Where Are the Graders?

Mr. Editor:

Can anybody tell us what has become of the road graders? The two supervisors for the county came out in a card in the early spring ordering all road overseers not to use any plows or scrapers on the roads. They might, if they saw proper, order out the hands and work the roads with small tools, but from their card there was nothing obligatory on their part to do so. I gathered from their card that the road graders were going to do all the work and no one else need bother themselves about the matter. Now I have traveled over a good many of the public roads and I have not seen where the graders have worked in a single instance and have not heard of their working anywhere. I would like to know what they are doing. Can't you stir up our county court some and get them to see after the matter. This county is taxed pretty heavily for that purpose as well as some others, and I think the court ought to require a certified statement from the supervisors and have it published to let the tax payers know what becomes of their money along that line, and just a simple statement of what they had done from the supervisors should not be sufficient. The court ought to know whether this statement is correct or not. There seems to be a good deal of carelessness in this matter and it certainly should be looked into.

OPENING BALL.

Cerulean Springs the Scene of the Gay Dance Friday Night.

The opening ball at Cerulean Springs Friday night was a decided success in point of attendance and in the pleasure of the occasion.

There were more than 100 guests from neighboring towns, as shown by the hotel register. Many young ladies were included in the arrival from Hopkinsville, Cadiz, Princeton, Henderson and other places. A party from this city numbered 35 persons. About 20 were present from Cadiz and as many from Princeton.

The band engaged for the season has arrived and made excellent music. The dancing continued until a late hour and the season was most auspiciously opened.

The fare at Cerulean was never better and the rooms are all in prime condition, having been newly painted and furnished.

"A Distinguished Authoress"

Under the above caption the Democrat, of Natchez, Miss., in its issue of June 17 says:

Miss Hattie Lee Johnston of Kentucky, a niece of General Albert Sidney Johnston, and, though just in her twenties, is one of the most gifted writers in the South, is in the city and will be at Mrs. Ida Philipps' on South Union street for the next few days. Miss Johnston has written very interesting and entertaining stories for the leading magazines, besides having written a most successful novel entitled "The City of Sin." She is a young woman of rare accomplishments, and as is natural with the young ladies of her native State, an expert horsewoman. She comes from two of the best families in the South and is a great social favorite in Louisville, Lexington and all the leading cities of Kentucky and Tennessee as well as the leading cities of the South. Miss Johnston is making arrangements to place her new book "The City of Sin," on sale with the local book dealers, and as the book is a most excellent work and filled with choice reading, it should find a ready sale.

Every thoughtful owner of stock has a large lump of RETS OFF ROCK SALT in his manger, horse lot and pasture. This enables his stock to get salt all the time without getting too much, which sometimes proves fatal. We have just received a car load of it. It's the only pure salt obtainable. It will last a long time in the weather.
